DELEGATES WOULD TAX E. & N. GRANT

Reversion to Three-Year
High School Term Asked
by Trustees

COURTENAY SELECTED
FOR NEXT CONVENTION

KELOWNA, Sept. 21.—School trustees this afternoon adopted a resolution submitted by Union Bay and Comox School Boards seeking investigation of the deal between the Government and E. & N. Railway. An enormous land grant was made as a subsidy to the railway, and the resolution urged the Government to ascertain if the land could not be brought under taxation. It was said that if these lands were taxed there would be no necessity for school grants in the district.

Interchange of teachers was the subject of a resolution from Penikese. It was urged the system be encouraged, particularly after teachers have served three years in a district.

WOULD CHANGE COURSE

A resolution submitted by Burnaby to ask the Department of Education to revert to the original three-year course of high school study, or so arrange that students may normally take eleven years for the full school curriculum, was passed. The resolution "deplored the action of the department in adding an additional year to the high school course in the face of increased financial depression." The department was criticized for reducing the grant for education, "thereby increasing the cost of education to the ratepayers."

MANAGER HELD FOR WAGES DUE

Official Liberated by Miners
After Being Detained
Three Days

AMOS, Quebec, Sept. 21 (CP).—Danger of starvation is over for the present at Le Roy Mines and Arthur Melkman, mine manager, who for several days has been held prisoner by thirty unpaid miners, is free. Mr. Melkman reached Amos tonight from the property on the Burinaw River, eighty miles away, to describe the acute situation that has prevailed since food ran short and there was no money to pay wages.

The thirty miners were offered transportation to Amos, Mr. Melkman said, but refused to leave the mine. In the meantime, efforts are being made to obtain more funds.

CLOSED UP MINE

"In the interests of the shareholders," the twenty-four-year-old mining engineer said tonight, "I felt it my duty to close up the mine and pull the pumps. I left for the property last week to do so following the receipt of a sum of money from the head office sufficient to bring the men here."

The men refused to leave the property. However, neither would they let me leave and I was held more or less a hostage. After reasoning with the men for several days, they finally allowed me my liberty. They are remaining at the property. The money I was to use to bring them here has been spent for food supplies and the danger of starvation has temporarily passed."

ORDERS AUDIT OF TREASURY BOOKS

Senior Clerk Arrested by Ontario
Police on Theft Charge—Large Shortage Suspected

TORONTO, Sept. 21 (CP).—H. L. Austin, of Toronto, senior clerk in the Provincial Treasurer's Department, was arrested today by Ontario police, charged with theft of money placed by preliminary investigation at Ontario's credit. He has been in the department for ten years in the department. The alleged thefts were carried out by manipulation of bonds and started several years ago, according to Dunlop, Provincial Treasurer, ordered an immediate audit of the Treasury books and the amount involved will be known in a few days. Some officials of the department fear the amount may reach five figures.

Japanese Claims U.S. President Suggested Policy in Manchuria

Diplomat Says Theodore Roosevelt Advised "Monroe Doctrine" for Far East

PROMISED SUPPORT OF UNITED STATES

By VISCONTI KENTARO KANIKO
(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc., from advance proofs from "Contemporary Japan.")
In the early Summer of 1905, after President Roosevelt's mediation for a peace conference had been accepted by Russia and Japan, I was invited to lunch at the White House. We talked about the forthcoming conference and discussed many preliminary questions.

Afterward our conversation turned to more personal things. The President said the style and dignity of the position required at the White House gave his guests little knowledge of his family life and his personality, and he invited me to be his guest in a less formal way at Oyster Bay.

Next morning the President and I discussed many problems of the "after-war" policy of Asia, among them a "Japanese Monroe Doctrine" in Asia, which he strongly advised. And now, when Japan's policies in Asia are causing anxiety and even alarm to other powers, I venture to believe the time has come when the President would be given to the world. However, I do not at this distance of time pretend to repeat the exact words of our conversation, which took place nearly twenty-eight years ago, but its substance makes an indelible impression upon my mind.

Big Damage Claim Filed In Manitoba

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21 (CP).—Claiming $25,000 damage for alleged false arrest and malicious prosecution, Leslie Gaden has started legal action against Hon. John Bracken, Prime Minister of Manitoba; Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General, and Inspector W. R. Day, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

While editor of a publication called The Truth in Canada, Gaden was arrested, charged with willfully and knowingly publishing false news as a result of an article which said there was a shortage of more than a million dollars in Provincial Government funds. He was acquitted after a jury trial.

ASK FOR NEW SURVEY OF FISH RESOURCES

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21 (CP).—Holding the investigation of the fish resources of Hudson Bay made by the Dominion Government in 1931 was inadequate, the fish committee of the industrial development board of Manitoba will ask for an entirely new survey.

An expedition sent to Hudson Bay in a trawler in 1930 reported there was no commercial fish in the bay. The finding had been disputed by residents at Churchill and interests associated with the development of that new port.

SOLEMN WARNING TO NATION IS SOUNDED IN RAILWAY REPORT

Commissioners Say Unless Action Is Taken Cost of Railroads Will Increase

RECOMMEND NEW
BOARD OF CONTROL

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (CP).—Revamping of the administration of Canada's railways and curbing the cost of railway operations constitute the backbone of the transportation report. Findings of the commission, headed by Mr. Justice L. P. Duff, of the Supreme Court of Canada, are unanimous.

Coincident with the issue by the Prime Minister of a summary of the report, Mr. Bennett made a statement. "The Canadian railway situation was grave, he declared. Legislation on the report, based upon a most comprehensive study of our transportation difficulties—'to use his own words—would be introduced at the coming session of Parliament."

LEGISLATION AIMS

The Prime Minister declared measures to be brought down would insure:

(a) The physical integrity of the Canadian National Railways system and its complete freedom from political interference and community pressure.

(b) Termination of the era of financial irresponsibility on the part of the management of the Canadian National Railways, "which should make possible the inauguration of measures which will at once reduce, and I believe in time, wholly eliminate, the operating deficits of the National lines, without preserving and increasing the effectiveness of their services to the country as a whole."

(c) Termination of the era of aggressive and unprofitable competition between the Canadian National and the Great Western.

HERRIOT ACTS AS OBSERVER

French Premier at Geneva
in Event of Discussion
on German Note

GENEVA, Sept. 21 (AP).—Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, was revealed tonight in the role of mysterious observer in the deliberations of the Disarmament Conference's procedure committee today.

The committee passed the question of German participation in the conference back to Berlin where it resumed its deliberations, and then went on with the regular programme. Germany had no representative in accordance with her assertion that she would not participate until her demand for arms equality is recognized.

AWAITS AT HOTEL

It was learned the French Premier arrived on an early train and went to a hotel, while Joseph Paul-Boncour, the French delegate, went to the conference bureau meeting, where discussion of the German demand was avoided. Premier Herriot remained at his hotel while the British, French, Russian and United States delegates discussed the bureau programme with President Arthur Henderson.

Tonight Premier Herriot departed for Paris and the report went out that he had held no important conference with anybody. It was explained in French quarters that the Premier wished to be on hand if anybody started a discussion of the German issue.

DISCUSSION POSTPONED

Arthur Henderson, chairman, at the outset suggested discussion of the demand be postponed until the German Government had made a reply to a letter which he wrote urging continued participation in the conference.

PROVINCES MAY CONTROL BUSES

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (CP).—The Ottawa Morning Journal says today the Dominion Government, following the submission of the Duff report, may ask the provinces to control motor truck competition with the railways of the Dominion.

"It is understood," said The Journal, "that the suggestion thrown out is that a conference should be held at an early date between Federal authorities and the provinces. The respective Provincial Governments with a view of protecting the railways from bus and truck operations."

IN FAVOR OF ST. LAWRENCE POWER PLAN

Democratic Presidential Candidate Advocates Development of Waterway

WOULD CONTROL
PUBLIC UTILITIES

By W. B. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

PORTLAND, Sept. 21.—Franklin D. Roosevelt laid down tonight an eight-point programme for controlling public utilities and said he favored giving the people the right to operate their own power business when essential to "protect them against inefficient service or exorbitant charges."

Crowds wedged into the entrances so tightly that members of Roosevelt's party had considerable difficulty in fighting their way into the auditorium.

With regard to regulation of the companies engaged in the power business, the candidate proposed:

URGES PUBLICITY

Publicity with regard to their securities and earnings.

Publicity on the stocks and bonds they and their officers own and upon intercompany contracts.

Regulation by the Federal Power Commission of utility holding companies.

Co-operation of the power companies with state public utilities commissions to regulate and control such companies.

Holding the issuance of securities to the level of "prudent investment."

Establishing the "actual money prudent investment principle" to supplement the reproduction cost theory as a basis of rate making.

Prohibiting the "publication of false or deceptive matter" on public utilities.

DEEP WATERWAYS

Interrupted frequently by applause that showered down from the high filled balconies and echoed from the floor, the Democratic presidential candidate proposed that the Federal Government complete the Columbia River, St. Lawrence and Boulder Dam power projects, and, in discussing Muscle Shoals, said the water power should belong to all the people.

In arguing for regulation of utility companies, Mr. Roosevelt said the crash of the "Wall Street" had given excellent proof of the truth of what I have been arguing for a long time.

"State-owned or Federal-owned power alone can and should properly be developed by the Government itself," he declared. "When so developed private capital should be given the first opportunity to transmit and distribute the power on a basis of the best service and the lowest rates to give a reasonable profit only."

"The right of Federal Government and State Governments to go further and to transmit and distribute where reasonable power service is refused by private capital gives to the Government, via the people, that very essential 'birth rod' in the cupboard."

GAME BARRIERS MAY BE LIFTED

Deer for Food Purposes May Be Brought Within Reach of Needy

Sympathetic consideration is being given by the Government to the plight of unemployed men in mining, lumbering and other communities, where the volume of work has been curtailed seriously in the last three years and where game for food purposes is desired to ease out slender budgets.

Premier Talmie took the matter up with his Cabinet this week and expressed the wish that in so far as is found possible that no unnecessary barriers be put in the way of permitting hunting and fishing for food purposes on behalf of men in these communities. Details of what policy will be followed were left to Attorney-General Pooley and the game branch to work out.

SUGGESTION ADVANCED

It is not likely that the Province can waive game licences, but the suggestion has been advanced that a small number of men in each community be permitted to go into the woods after game to share with the unemployed, with a grant of the normal fees for hunting and fishing licences.

Whether this is done by authorized officers or by representatives of the unemployed themselves, it is probable that a plan can be worked out whereby those actually in need of game for food purposes will be placed within reach of it. The point applies with special force to one-industry communities working on part time, particularly so in the case of loggers and millmen on Vancouver Island and at several other points.

Early announcement is expected on the point from the Attorney-General's Department after some practicable scheme has been worked out.

YOUNG BANDIT REFUSES NAME OF COMPANION

Readily Admits Wounding
Cafeman During Holdup
but Protects Pal

EXPLAINS HOW TO CARRY GUN

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21.—Nineteen-year-old Frank Stewart defied Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald in assize court this afternoon to compel him to disclose the identity of a companion who assisted in a shooting affray during a holdup of the Olympic Cafe, West Pender Street, on July 4.

After pleading guilty to a charge of shooting at E. B. Perry, the restaurant proprietor, with intent to do grievous bodily harm, Stewart told the witness stand in defence of Louis Dubois, who was charged with him.

Perry had identified Stewart as the bandit with the gun, and Dubois as his companion, who stood near the cash register to receive the money. The cafe proprietor refused to open the till, and as he retreated from proximity of the gunman, the latter opened fire and shot him through the shoulder with a .45 calibre bullet.

YOUTHFUL CONVICT
Stewart, auburn-haired youth, who gave his occupation as assistant bookkeeper, which, examination disclosed, had been acquired while an inmate of the penitentiary, swore that he had never seen Dubois until he met the latter in the city jail after his (Stewart's) arrest on July 7.

The man who accompanied him on the Olympic Cafe robbery was Fred Thomas, which name, Stewart explained, was an alias for a fellow convict who was released from New Westminster penitentiary last June. He refused to give the real name of Thomas, or to answer questions establishing Thomas' identity.

Crown Prosecutor Alfred Bull, K.C., sought an order from His Lordship compelling the witness to answer.

Mr. Justice Macdonald failed to overcome Stewart's refusal. His Lordship said that he could commit the witness for contempt, but such a course would be futile in view of an impending sentence against Stewart for the crime to which he pleaded guilty.

ON CITY RELIEF
Stewart's real name is Richard Hory. He was born in Montreal and since coming to British Columbia, in 1930, served a two-year sentence in the New Westminster prison. He was released on June 6, and was on city relief for a week, and was arrested at Lansdowne Park racetrack on July 7 with a .45 calibre revolver on him. He said that he was only sixteen when sentenced to the penitentiary and that he gave the wrong age, otherwise he would have been dealt with as a juvenile. While in prison he was assistant bookkeeper and librarian.

Soon after his release from prison he obtained the revolver. He refused to tell His Lordship where he got the gun, but he readily explained how he packed the heavy weapon inside his belt and down one trouser leg.

Witness said that Thomas planned the holdup.

He fired at Perry because he thought, as he testified, that Perry was reaching for a gun when he ducked beneath the counter.

more home work, other delegates argued too much money was being spent on unnecessary studies.

EXAMINATION FEES
The convention decided to request the Department of Education to allow matriculation students, taking examinations partly at the end of the third year and partly the fourth year, to pay one fee of five dollars, and to pass with an average of 60 per cent, with no paper less than 40 per cent.

It was explained this would mean a saving of about five dollars to the student.

A resolution from Burnaby seeking to have school board chairman act as ex-officio members of the Juvenile Court was defeated.

Establishment of a common system of education in all the provinces, including standardized textbooks, advocated by Prince Rupert, was supported by the convention.

PASSING OF STUDENTS
Mid-Island trustees submitted a resolution urging the privilege of passing students of all schools to be permitted for high schools.

The recommendation system was criticized by several delegates and an amendment was offered urging that high school students must write on one or more subjects. Both amendment and resolution were defeated.

A shift system of classes to put school buildings to greater use was advocated in a resolution submitted by Richmond. The convention defeated a proposal for a committee to investigate the feasibility of offering the present curriculum under such a system.

North Vancouver brought up the subject of insurance money received by school boards and won action to make certain the money should not enter other channels.

COURSES IN SPANISH
More courses in Spanish language were advocated by Richmond in a resolution which received unanimous support.

At the suggestion of Burnaby delegates a vote of thanks was extended to Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe for curtailing the school holidays, which was at the request of the British Columbia School Trustees Association.

Courtesy was selected for the 1933 convention.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe; president, J. H. Dickson, Burnaby; vice-president, J. P. Carr, Matsqui; secretary, George A. Grant, executive, D. Chapman, of Kelowna; Mrs. T. A. Barnard, of Nanaimo; A. G. Perry, North Vancouver; and Felix Thomas, Courtenay.

COMMUNITY GROUP TO HOLD MEETING

The Foul Bay Community Association will hold its first meeting of the ensuing year Wednesday next, in the Presbyterian Hall, on Wilwood Avenue. A large attendance is requested as interesting news concerning the new park will be made public.

PROVINCE WILL AWAIT REPORTS

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe Says
Trustees' Decisions
Not Yet Filed

No action will be taken by the Government in regard to proposals advanced before the British Columbia School Trustees Association, in convention this week at Kelowna, until the recommendations of that group have been laid before the ministry in final form. It was intimated by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe yesterday on his return from the convention.

In regard to several of the major resolutions presented at the meeting, a further conference between the trustees and the Union of British Columbia Municipalities will be necessary before final submission is likely to be made to the Province.

Mr. Hinchliffe withheld comment on the various proposals until the formal resolutions have been forwarded to his department. The Minister of Education addressed the gathering on Monday and sat in for two hours on Tuesday while the business of the meeting proceeded.

He was called away, however, before decisions had been reached on some of the major issues before the convention.

A three-year high school period, denial of the principle of council control of school board general expenditures, and many other issues were discussed at the meeting.

IN RAILWAY REPORT

National Railways and the Canadian Pacific by the provision of a plan of co-operation designed to avoid unnecessary and wasteful duplication of services.

After advocating elimination of duplication and waste by the two systems, the report puts forward its proposals. Main recommendations are:

BOARD OF TRUSTEES
1. Establishment of a trustee commission to replace the Canadian National Railways directors of seven.

2. Meetings at regular intervals between Canadian National and three Canadian Pacific railway directors to discuss co-operation and economy.

3. Appointment of an arbitral tribunal of three—composed of the chief commissioner of the railway board (Hon. C. P. Fullerton) and a nominee from each of the railways—for the adjustment of disputes between the systems. In the event of the disagreement being a major one, the president of the railway board may add two members to the arbitral tribunal. Both railways, the Dominion, and all provinces may invoke the powers of the tribunal, whose decision would prevail in any dispute between that body and the Board of Railway Commissioners.

TITULAR PRESIDENT
4. Naming of chief operating officer for the Canadian National with titular rank of president to look after working of system in detail. But direction and control of system under responsibility of trustee commission. The president to be appointed by and responsible to trustees and not directly to the Government or Parliament.

5. Cancellation of aggressive competition between Canadian National and Canadian Pacific in auxiliary services such as hotels, telegraph systems and express services.

6. Abolition of unwarranted duplication in services or facilities.

7. Joint operation of such properties as may be conveniently and without undue detriment to either party so operated.

8. Audit of C.N.R. accounts regularly by auditors appointed by Parliament and whose reports will go to Parliament.

BUDGET CONTROL
9. Trustees to have control of annual budget. But budget must first be submitted to treasury board for approval. Presentation of annual budget to be made to Parliament by Minister of Finance.

10. The C.N.R. board of trustees to report to Parliament annually.

Registration of Voters Is Taken For City Polling

A TOTAL of 575 names have been added to the city voters' list since registration was opened on September 7, it was announced yesterday by City Clerk M. F. Hunter.

This figure is almost equal to the number of registrations made during the same period last year. Those who have paid their poll tax or trade licence are entitled to register up to the end of October for voting in the forthcoming civic election. All property holders are automatically placed on the list.

11. Canadian National deficits to be voted upon by Parliament annually and not raised by the issue of railway securities.

12. No diversion of C.N.R. appropriations for capital account to cover deficits without parliamentary approval.

The commissioners state that although their terms of reference were strictly concerned with the problems arising out of the transportation situation in Canada, they cannot but be conscious of the national difficulties in which the financial position of the publicly-owned railways is a contributory factor of first importance. In their report they outline a plan which they believe will insure progressive and co-ordinated development of the railway systems on an economic basis, and afford early relief to the alarming and increasing deficits, and the demands for further capital expenditure in connection with the Canadian National Railways system.

Church Policy of Publishing Honor
Roll Is Criticized

Criticism of the United Church of Canada's policy in publishing an honor roll of churches attaining the Missionary and Maintenance Fund allocated to them, was made by Rev. W. P. Bunt during the sitting of the Presbytery of Victoria here, when Mr. Bunt was given the chairmanship of this important committee.

When his appointment was suggested, Mr. Bunt stated he was not in full accord with the policy of the head office of the church at Toronto, protesting that it was not realized what a great strain it was on many congregations which undergo much self-denial in order to get their name on the honor roll rather than on the stigma of not being on it.

Attempts to have Rev. E. F. Church or Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson act as chairman of the committee failed, after which Mr. Bunt accepted the post, saying he did not wish it to be felt he was trying to evade the post.

According to an announcement made here yesterday morning, the work, which will cost about $8,000, will take some five weeks to complete. To engage in this work, pile-drivers and scows will leave Victoria immediately. The length of the dock is to be increased 100 feet. Treble is the highest part in harmonized music.

CONTRACT FOR PIER

Victoria Dahlia Society's Show Opens Friday

The annual dahlia show of the Victoria Dahlia Society will be held in the ground floor space of the Central Building, corner View and Broad Streets, tomorrow and Saturday.

Owing to the fact that dahlias grow very well in Victoria, attaining greater size and brilliancy than in most cities of North America, fine blooms are expected in the show. A recent achievement of a Victoria-grown dahlia was seen at the Seattle dahlia show when a seedling grown by W. Elder was given the medal for being the best dahlia raised in the Pacific Northwest. This dahlia was many other creations will be exhibited.

Classes have been provided for all types of dahlias and a special class has been set aside for novices, which will include those who have not won prizes in a dahlia show. Entry lists may be obtained from A. B. Christopher at Fox's Cutlery Store, View Street.

Criticism of the United Church of Canada's policy in publishing an honor roll of churches attaining the Missionary and Maintenance Fund allocated to them, was made by Rev. W. P. Bunt during the sitting of the Presbytery of Victoria here, when Mr. Bunt was given the chairmanship of this important committee.

When his appointment was suggested, Mr. Bunt stated he was not in full accord with the policy of the head office of the church at Toronto, protesting that it was not realized what a great strain it was on many congregations which undergo much self-denial in order to get their name on the honor roll rather than on the stigma of not being on it.

Attempts to have Rev. E. F. Church or Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson act as chairman of the committee failed, after which Mr. Bunt accepted the post, saying he did not wish it to be felt he was trying to evade the post.

The Victoria File-Driving Company has been given the contract to build an extension to the Dominion Government wharf at Port Renfrew.

According to an announcement made here yesterday morning, the work, which will cost about $8,000, will take some five weeks to complete. To engage in this work, pile-drivers and scows will leave Victoria immediately. The length of the dock is to be increased 100 feet. Treble is the highest part in harmonized music.

SERVED AT ESQUIMALT

Late Admiral T. P. Walker
Was Flag Captain on Warspite, 1899

Admiral T. P. Walker, who was at Esquimalt as flag captain of H.M.S. Warspite during part of 1899, died at the age of seventy-three at Woking, England, on Saturday, August 27.

As a midshipman in H.M.S. Modeste, young Walker was landed with the Laforet field force during operations against the Malays in 1875, and received the Perak medal and bar. He served as lieutenant in the royal yacht. He was author of "Seamanship Examination Questions of the Training Squadron, 1891." As a commander he edited the third edition of Captain Alston's "Seamanship," first published in 1890, which was of outstanding merit. He was a member of the Naval Intelligence Department from April, 1898, to March, 1899, then flag captain on the Pacific station in 1899, then on the Australian station. Afterwards he was assistant to the admiral commanding the Coastguard and Reserves, April, 1906, to March, 1908; side-de-camp to the King February, 1907, to March, 1908. He was then promoted to flag rank.

RETIRED IN 1913
Admiral Walker entered the navy as a naval cadet in 1872, was promoted to sub-lieutenant in 1877, lieutenant in 1879, commander in January, 1883, captain in June, 1888, and rear admiral in March, 1908. He retired in September, 1911, and was promoted vice-admiral, retired, on March 15, 1913.

During the Great War he offered his services to the admiralty; but, there being no appointment open to him in the rank of rear admiral, he took a temporary commission as captain in the Royal Naval Reserve in November, 1914, for service in the auxiliary patrol and was awarded the D.S.O.

It is interesting to note that in seniority he was next above Rear Admiral C. E. Kingsmill, who was then director of the Naval Service, Canada. During the service of Captain Walker in the flagship Warspite, the commander-in-chief was Rear Admiral Lewis A. Beaumont, with B. A. Pratt-Barlow as flag lieutenant. The junior lieutenant was Arthur Bromley, later captain of H.M.S. Raleigh. When Admiral Beaumont was appointed to the Australian station, Captain Walker followed him there.

THE TRANSPORTATION REPORT

Much that was anticipated as ordained by sanity in the economic outlook is contained in the recommendation of the Commission on Railways and Transportation, a summary of which has been made public. Easily the most important of those recommendations is that dealing with the elimination of uncontrolled competition between the two transcontinental railways. This means a measure of co-operation in the future which will be of benefit to both roads, and in order to decree such there is to be a commission of three trustees, to replace the present Board of Directors of the C.N.R., and this commission will be in constant touch with a committee of three members of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

In effect the highlight of the recommendations is that dealing with the elimination of unwarranted duplication in services or facilities. This implies joint operation of such properties as are convenient to such a purpose and where such operation will not adversely affect the fortunes of either transcontinental. Where the Commission of Trustees of the C.N.R. and the Commission of Trustees of the C.P.R. fail to agree as to joint action there is to be appeal to a board of arbitration composed of the chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners and one representative from each of the railway systems.

The recommendations, so far as is necessary, are to be translated into legislative action at the session of Parliament which opens next month. Such action will be the greatest measure of economy that has been adopted in recent years. It will enforce the co-operative action outlined, which will save the country many millions annually now being paid out on behalf of national ownership. What is proposed is the joint use of terminals where possible. Similarly, there is to be joint use of one set of tracks where there is duplication. Prohibition of the construction of new lines where there is no essential need for them is recommended, and the abandonment of lines, services and facilities where they are uneconomical ventures. There is to be pooling of freight and passenger traffic under certain circumstances where there is joint handling. In effect aggressive competition in which the taxpayers' money is involved is to cease.

There is a recommendation that auditors should be appointed by Parliament to carry out a continuous audit of the accounts of the Canadian National, and their reports thereon are to be submitted to Parliament. In the matter of a future president of the state-owned system, it is recommended that he should be appointed by and responsible to the Board of Trustees and not directly to the Government or Parliament. He is, in effect, to be chief operating officer with the titular rank of president. The responsibility, however, for the direction and control of the Canadian National will rest on the shoulders of the proposed Board of Trustees who are to be paid adequately and who will be expected to give their whole time to the duties. Moreover, it is stipulated that the trustees to be appointed must have the special qualifications for the office.

After making its exhaustive inquiry, the Transportation Commission came to the conclusion which had already been reached by all shrewd observers in the country, "that unless the solution was to the effect that, 'unless the country is prepared to adopt the plan proposed, or some other equally effective measures, the very stability of the nation's finances and the financial credit of the Canadian Pacific Railway will be threatened with serious consequences to the people of Canada and to those who have invested their savings in the Canadian Pacific Railway.' The character of the recommendations will serve, as nothing else has done up to the present, to impress upon the people of Canada as a whole the necessity for action. The manner in which money has been squandered on the state ownership of railways, and on other schemes of national ownership, has been apparent to everyone who is thinking in terms of the country's future welfare. Now it is 'the morning after' when drastic action is imperative.

UNPAID BILLS

Recently attention was drawn to the reprehensible habit that has been growing in latter years of leaving bills unpaid for lengthy periods. The process was described as "sponging on storekeepers" and the knowledge that it has spread all too widely has shocked decent-minded persons. It is a shabby trick for anyone to perform where the ability exists to pay. The delinquents place themselves in the position of parasites. What is more they are contributory to illegitimate interference with the whole process of business enterprise.

Unpaid bills mean that tradesmen cannot pay the manufacturers in full, and the wholesaler is often kept out of his money. In other words, business is obstructed. Unpaid debts mean insolvency for some tradesmen, no matter how hard-working they may be, and yet those who are responsible, through the habit of sponging on them, go scot free. Too long credit is given because tradesmen fear to lose trade. It might be better for them to realize that the character of the trade they fear to lose would be better lost. The tradesman is most respected who gets a name for demanding fair treatment and on a uniform course of action in respect to those who do business with them. If they insist on payment from those who are known to be able to pay, it would not be long until even the trickiest sponger was brought to book, or else his sources of supply would become exhausted.

It is only by practical action that sponging can be stopped. Those who indulge in the process are usually shameless. In commenting on the breed The London Times says: "Unfortunately the people who sponge on shopkeepers, like the people who drive motor cars to the public danger or set commons on fire, or before beautiful places with litter, or ride over the farmer's young corn and leave his gates open—all who do silly, swaggering, shabby things of that sort are possibly able to read, but certainly never do. What is written against them passes over their heads, and, should it be brought to their notice, they would not understand that it was aimed at them. Their spirit is that of the smart young man who protested to the policeman that he had a right to pick the flowers in the public park because the notice forbidding it did not say 'This means you'."

SCIENTISTS AND RELIGION

Dr. R. A. Millikan, perhaps the most noted of American scientists, is numbered among those who are fully persuaded that there is a Higher Power at work in the scheme of the universe. The greatest names in science have always held a similar belief. They could not visualize the problems with which they concern themselves without coming to the conclusion that the origin and ordered procession of the cosmic host are only traceable to what lies at present beyond human ken. That was the conclusion reached by such men as Maxwell, Faraday, Galileo and Newton. It is held at the present day by Einstein, Jeans, Eddington and Millikan.

The latter is a scientist of broad principles who condemns dogma and pleads that those following the research work upon which he is engaged should maintain open minds. Dr. Millikan believes that God rules the universe by set and explicit laws. He is religious enough to maintain that there is no whim or caprice in the ordered play of supernatural forces, and that man, in the scheme of the universe, is not a plaything of a blind fate but rather an agent in the making of his own future according to his appreciation of God's law and his ability to bring himself into harmony with it. His definition of the Almighty is that of "the great integrating factor of the universe." Dr. Millikan's appreciation in this sense, with the vast store of knowledge he possesses, is worth more than that of thousands of lesser intelligence and thinking power. The deeper the knowledge possessed by the individual the more certain it is that he will realize forces beyond and above all human control.

THE SCOTT CENTENARY

On the last page of John Buchan's recently-published life of Scott is told the story of how thirty years after Sir Walter's death the daughter of Scott's friend, Skene, found her father in a transport of joy. Sitting by the water-side he had imagined that Scott had returned again and he greeted his daughter with glad tears in his eyes. "So it has come," I have been speaking with him for this hour. He is just the same, as cheerful and hearty as ever."

Scott! those grey eyes that loved to gaze on Cheviot far Embracing all the Borderland south to stern Carter
Are still as clear for us, although a hundred years
Have passed,
As in those days when your great thoughts were massed
To clear the field for Scotland, your beloved land,
And so to touch, and make your people understand,
As sure the vision and as staunch and true your tread
Your arm as strong, the heart beneath the plaid
Is as your hair—no, it is your very beard indeed.

Had scarcely passed beside your murmuring Tweed.
We still may catch the boisterous boyish laugh
That wakes the echoes down by Esk and Haugh,
Still hear the chanting of some ballad old
The glories of Auld Scotland to the winds unfold;
We still may almost feel the kindly, courteous grasp
Which Kings and chieftains were proud to clasp
Courageous Scott! Victor through tragedy and grief
And pain,
Shall Scotland ever look upon the like of Scott again?
—W. Hastie Cochrane.

ELECTRICITY

If you ask, What is electricity? there is no answer, save that it is a thing which exists in unit and in sort, positive and negative, with a strong attraction for each other, and that in any atom you find them somehow held apart against that attraction, with a consequent storage of potential energy. Though, still, the chattering of some ballad old
The glories of Auld Scotland to the winds unfold;
We still may almost feel the kindly, courteous grasp
Which Kings and chieftains were proud to clasp
Courageous Scott! Victor through tragedy and grief
And pain,
Shall Scotland ever look upon the like of Scott again?

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

And virtue, though in rain, will keep me warm—Dryden.

Dear R. B. D.—Reading the editorial in The Colonist of Saturday last regarding a million dollars being missing from the funds of the University of Manitoba and from church funds and for the loss of which one man is now before the courts, I got to thinking, and the first thought that came to my mind was, what terrible examples such disclosures must be for the younger generations who have passed, and are passing, through our schools and universities.

When I was a lad at school one of my early copybooks had headings at the top of each page, one of which was "Honesty is the best policy," and I had to write this over and over again until the page was filled, thus the teaching of these few words was impressed upon me, and backed up with example and precept instilled into me by my parents.

Can the young men and women who are entering on life's work feel the same towards "Honesty is the best policy" as I did when I was a boy? I am sure that many of them are not. A more serious aspect of the public mind is exemplified in the judgment often passed on the streets upon the proceedings of the courts of justice to this effect: "That there is one law for the rich and another law for the poor," implying that the offences of wealthy wrongdoers are glossed over as mere peccadilloes, while the backslidings of the poor under sore temptation are punished with the utmost rigor of the law. It is bad enough to contemplate the dishonesty of individuals, but it would be a disastrous thing if men in the mass were to lose faith in the probity of fundamental institutions.

HERBERT KENT.

September 19, 1932.

Without "making any bones about it," we cannot answer to our own satisfaction, nor probably to the satisfaction of anybody else, the question of Mr. Kent. We, too, can remember writing out many times the old school copybook aphorism that "honesty is the best policy," together with another of the same that "the way of the transgressor is hard." But then the way of the transgressor probably was harder in those days than it is at the present day. We know if we were to say that the people of this troubled old world are of lower moral and ethical status than they used to be, learned educationists and profound moralists would rise up and tell us that ethical and moral standards are higher than they ever were, that there has been a distinct advance in moral standards in company with a steady improvement in material comforts.

Then even while we were pondering over the suggestion of Mr. Kent that publication by the newspapers of the details of the Manitoba defalcations and other crimes of a like character must have a demoralizing effect upon young people entering upon the battle of life—for the business of life is still a battle and success in the struggle is to the strong—William entered the room, and we submitted the question of our correspondent to him. Our friend William always can be depended upon to be a very present help in times of trouble. William said the aphorism at the head of the old copybook reminded him of another proverb of a different kind he had read in a newspaper. That aphorism was to the following effect, being the shrewd but worldly advice of an experienced man in the affairs of the world to his son about to enter upon a business career: "My boy, the supreme object of life is to make money; honestly if you can—but make money."

The aphorism cited by William has been attributed to representatives of two races of mankind, popularly, but we believe wrongly, supposed to be specially gifted in the art (or whatever it may be) of gathering gear, and also the source of most of the jokes made and circulated for the purpose of amusing all classes and conditions of mankind. We shall refrain from pursuing this phase of the subject further, for already we have quite enough trouble on our hands as a consequence of persistent pursuit of critics. The truth of the matter probably is that, relative to population, there was quite as much dishonesty in the world in the old days as there is at the present day, although the forms of roguery in former days may have differed somewhat from the dishonest practices of the present day. Authentic histories and works of imagination and fiction record many instances of defalcations and thefts, but in most instances not perpetrated upon the magnificent scale of the Manitoba and many other scandals. For instance, there was the South Sea Bubble, which was blown up until it burst and involved in ruin thousands upon thousands of confiding investors and was the principal cause of one of the deepest slumps which periodically afflicted the business world.

We honestly believe that one of the reasons for the present depression is a widely-held conviction that honesty is not the best policy, and an equally wide conviction that sharp practice is the surest road to affluence. A few days ago we had a conversation with a business man of Victoria, and were told something which bears directly upon this point. This man asked us if we ever had made notes of the mental attitude of almost every man we met upon the streets of the city, strangers as well as residents. He declared his conviction that the attitude of every man towards every other appeared to him to be: "Have you anything, and if you have anything, how can I get it from you?" That of course is a cynical appraisal of the morals of a man, but there may be some justification based upon experience for it.

It would be an unfortunate thing for the world and a disastrous thing for society as at present organized if the belief became current that there were no longer adequate rewards for honest labor, and that belief became a conviction in the minds of young people entering upon life careers. The ways of politicians are being very closely scrutinized at the present time, but the judgments popularly passed upon the ways of politicians are often unjust. A more serious aspect of the public mind is exemplified in the judgment often passed on the streets upon the proceedings of the courts of justice to this effect: "That there is one law for the rich and another law for the poor," implying that the offences of wealthy wrongdoers are glossed over as mere peccadilloes, while the backslidings of the poor under sore temptation are punished with the utmost rigor of the law. It is bad enough to contemplate the dishonesty of individuals, but it would be a disastrous thing if men in the mass were to lose faith in the probity of fundamental institutions.

CO-OPERATIVE LAND LEAGUE
Sir,—In today's Colonist I saw a report of a meeting of the Co-operative Land League of British Columbia, where it was reported that the chairman, Fred Landsberg, made the statement that the Government was to be asked to grant $100,000 to establish the first community of 300 persons on the land. To a lot of people, after they consider the enormous amount of money that has been expended, and the still more enormous amount of money that will have to be spent before the solution of the unemployment question is reached, this amount that Mr. Landsberg quotes will not appear such a very large sum, especially as these 300 persons represent nearly 1,000 men, women and children, but unfortunately, or in this case we should say fortunately, Mr. Landsberg did not hold of the main idea as I see it.

The Co-operative Land League scheme does not require the Government to grant $100,000 to establish these 1,000 souls on the land, though it may be necessary to ask the Government to pay the interest on the first year's debt on the bonds that the land league may have to issue. The amount the Government may have to put up may run into twenty or thirty thousand dollars, but by that time these 300 determined men—determined to show the rest of Canada that it was worth while, nothing else, except perhaps just to remain respectable and be respected—will have cleared and improved the land, built houses and stores, etc., that will have a salable value far in excess of their borrowings.

These 300 men did not sign the application form without giving a good reason for their selection. They did not intend to take their wives and children out on to raw land until they felt positive of success. Government land schemes in the past have not all been what they were cracked up to be. Farmers have gone on the land and failed, while their neighbor, a carpenter or painter, has succeeded. Most of us who have pioneered know why. Credit was too easy and interest on notes for machinery and stock was high, and after proving up, if a mortgage or "plaster" was put on the place all you could do was usually eaten up by the debts incurred during the proving-up period. Lack of experience of building and machinery, and the farmer's part and lack of experience in farming and stock-raising on the part of the artisan was in some cases responsible for the many failures. If these old pioneers had had the advantage of a co-operative system most of these failures would never have taken place.

Co-operative schemes have been successful before. The first farmers of Saskatchewan instituted and built the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co. Nobody could call that a failure. A few working men built the Scottish Co-operative Society, which grew until it had activities in all parts of the Empire.

The Co-operative Land League of British Columbia can also be a success if the Government of British Columbia are wise enough to grasp this opportunity to take their place in the sun and become the first province in Canada to start a constructive scheme to solve the unemployment question.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaels

BEAUTY'S FOLLOWERS
All you who follow Beauty
And worship from afar
Her hints in every violet,
Her torch in every star:

All you who find her glamour
In folk of youth and maid,
And watch the fading wonder
Across the faces pass;

Join with you in vowing
Allegiance without end
To one who never fails our faith,
Whatever life may send.

Though none can tell of Beauty
Just how it is, or why
She ennobles loneliness
And lifts her spirit high.

We sense her potent magic
In violet and star,
All we who follow Beauty
And worship from afar.

Rat Eats Spider

In Duel to Death

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 21.—

Scientists matched a rat and a tarantula in a "duel to death" here yesterday and they were confident the spider would win easily, but the rodent made a meal of his opponent before blows were struck. They eyed each other a moment and then the tarantula advanced. The rat stood his ground and proceeded to eat his foe with great relish.

CO-OPERATIVE LAND LEAGUE
Sir,—In today's Colonist I saw a report of a meeting of the Co-operative Land League of British Columbia, where it was reported that the chairman, Fred Landsberg, made the statement that the Government was to be asked to grant $100,000 to establish the first community of 300 persons on the land. To a lot of people, after they consider the enormous amount of money that has been expended, and the still more enormous amount of money that will have to be spent before the solution of the unemployment question is reached, this amount that Mr. Landsberg quotes will not appear such a very large sum, especially as these 300 persons represent nearly 1,000 men, women and children, but unfortunately, or in this case we should say fortunately, Mr. Landsberg did not hold of the main idea as I see it.

The Co-operative Land League scheme does not require the Government to grant $100,000 to establish these 1,000 souls on the land, though it may be necessary to ask the Government to pay the interest on the first year's debt on the bonds that the land league may have to issue. The amount the Government may have to put up may run into twenty or thirty thousand dollars, but by that time these 300 determined men—determined to show the rest of Canada that it was worth while, nothing else, except perhaps just to remain respectable and be respected—will have cleared and improved the land, built houses and stores, etc., that will have a salable value far in excess of their borrowings.

These 300 men did not sign the application form without giving a good reason for their selection. They did not intend to take their wives and children out on to raw land until they felt positive of success. Government land schemes in the past have not all been

CHORAL GROUP IS DISBANDED
Fairfield Society to Form New Organization Following Leader's Resignation
The Fairfield Choral Society was officially disbanded at a largely attended meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Building last night. Plans have been made for the formation of another choral group and will be definitely set out at a meeting to be held in St. Matthias' Hall tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock. Col. J. Forbes presided at last night's meeting.
The reason for disbandment was the acceptance of the resignation of Major Harry Watts as conductor of the group. Major Watts has had whole-hearted interest in the choir since its inception, but informed the members that he was absolutely unable to carry on further as his present duties would not provide sufficient time.
It was with much regret that the members received the resignation of their esteemed conductor. In justice to Major Watts, however, it was felt that the body should disband another society, so it was decided that they would meet tomorrow night, and also any others interested, for the purpose of organizing another choir and electing officers.

Forbes presided at last night's meeting.

The reason for disbandment was the acceptance of the resignation of Major Harry Watts as conductor of the group. Major Watts has had whole-hearted interest in the choir since its inception, but informed the members that he was absolutely unable to carry on further as his present duties would not provide sufficient time.

It was with much regret that the members received the resignation of their esteemed conductor. In justice to Major Watts, however, it was felt that the body should disband another society, so it was decided that they would meet tomorrow night, and also any others interested, for the purpose of organizing another choir and electing officers.

Camp—Reopens Next Year

Sunshine Camp, Saseenos, the hotel operated by the Social Service League for underprivileged mothers and children, has closed with the return of the last party of thirty-seven adults and youngsters to the city.

While many a regretful glance was turned toward the camp as the cars bearing the campers turned downwards, there were no formal ties of any kind, Miss Olive Snyder and her helpers merely remaining behind to see that everything was properly closed up and left in order for the reopening of camp next summer.

The camp has again proved a boon to many families by providing holidays, with rest, sunshine and good food, for ninety-five mothers and 254 children who otherwise would have been denied such privileges. Friends provided cars to bring the campers back to the city.

service yesterday afternoon at 3

FIRE MENACE
IS STRESSED

Prevention Campaign to Be Conducted Here by Insurance Agents Oct. 9

October 9 has been designated by the Dominion Government as fire prevention week, it was announced yesterday by F. F. Fatt, secretary of the Victoria and District Fire Insurance Agents' Association.

At the request of the provincial fire marshal the association has undertaken the organization of a campaign as in former years. Fred Landsberg, of the Empire Realty Company, has been appointed publicity director for the eleventh year in succession.

The school boards of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich have been appealed to as in the past to help. Fire Chief Vernon Stewart will have charge of the city schools, organizing fire drills and inspection. The deputy fire marshal will make visits to the schools in adjacent districts.

School children will be afforded an opportunity of winning a prize for the best essays on fire prevention, a contest which attracted 1,500 competitors in the city school other methods of educating the public in fire prevention will be devised for the week's campaign.

VERY VALUABLE
TO MINING MEN

Consolidated Company's Fleet Now Totals Eleven
Planes—Many Uses

An outstanding example of the value of aircraft to certain kinds of business when they are exploited with understanding and courage is given by the activities of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada. It was in 1929 that the company decided that it would employ aircraft for business purposes and purchased three planes. These were used in carrying supplies to camps where the company had exploratory operations in progress.

In addition, two of the company's mining engineers, who had qualified as pilots, were provided with De Havilland "Moths" light airplanes and five other engineers were trained and sent out with their own aircraft. They cover the districts in their charge, supervising the prospectors and examining discoveries offered to them by free-lance prospectors, in these arid regions.

During the last three seasons the company's airplanes have been used in every province from Quebec to British Columbia and in the Northwest Territories. Of the original four machines, three are still in service and the fleet now totals eleven. One of the "Moths," now three years old, has exceeded the total of 900 hours in the air.

LAST RITES TODAY

The funeral of James Hamilton will take place this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from McCall Brothers' Funeral Home, Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell

interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

was settled conclusively yesterday
when a paper bag with sandwiches was dropped near the King's Printer, where it was later found by a prominent member of the staff. Earlwig to the number of 101 solemnly waddled out of the bag, slightly annoyed at being disturbed in his lunch.

Attorney-General will pass upon the cases which are to go before the court for trial.

afternoon the Oak Bay schools have a pleasant event planned in connection with the work of the possible and also a number of the parents will attend the functions.

Presentation of various awards covering last year's term will be presented first at the Willows School at 2:30 p.m., then at the Monterey School at 3 p.m., and at the old High School at 3:30 p.m.
In the latter instance, the technical classes will be represented and occasion is being taken to serve tea
following the presentation.

Insurance Official Says Outlook
Much Improved—General
Evidence of Upturn

On his first visit to Victoria since assuming the post of third vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Assurance Company and general manager for Canada, H. D. Wright, of Ottawa, remarks upon the altered outlook throughout the country within the past few months.
There is a general evidence of a return of better things, he said.

This altered outlook is especially noticeable in the Prairies, where the heavy grain yield is bringing high prices to the residents of the provinces.

The life insurance business, which is a good index to the general trend of business, he found was very much improved and the agents throughout the West were most hopeful for the future. Mr. Wright is visiting various centres in connection with the work of his company.

Men of Church
Elect Officers

The Men's Club of Fairfield United Church held its annual meeting last evening, when the following officers were chosen:
President, A. Schroeder; first vice-president, E. Dent; second vice-president, W. H. Campbell; secretary, H. Cross; treasurer, C.
Charlton, and honorary presidents,
Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry and J. Johnson.

The meeting opened with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock, following which Rev.
Dr. Henry gave an address on "The Work of Men in the Church."
The gathering was one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the organization and the members are looking forward to a successful year.

L. Abbot and E. E. Hardisty contributed to the programme with vocal solos.

in Scottish churches for the ex-posure of offenders against chastity.

BETTER TIMES
ARE RETURNING

L. Batchelor, Head of Grocery Chain, Optimistic on Return From East

"There is a definite trend toward revival of business and a gradual reduction in the number of unemployed in the East," L. Batchelor, head of the Batchelor chain of grocery stores in this city, stated in an interview on his return from Toronto and other Eastern cities, yesterday.

"The majority of the big food manufacturing firms feel that the worst is over and that things are brightening up in general," Mr.
Batchelor said.

"At Sault Ste. Marie approximately 400 men were taken back to work in the pulp mills there on the day I arrived, and there also were evidences of other industries increasing their staffs in the East."

STOCK IS SOLD

"Another encouraging sign was that all 'distress stock' that is to say stock taken over by banks through business failures, has been sold in so far as foodstuffs are concerned and a general strengthening in the price of food commodities, particularly canned goods, can be looked for," Mr. Batchelor said.

"This to some extent is due to the drier crop of peas, corn and some other vegetables in Ontario, where the bulk of the canned produce is packed. The peach crop, however, was good this year so that prices on this commodity should be quite reasonable."

While in the East, Mr. Batchelor visited the Canadian National Exhibition, which, he said, was an outstanding success. Toronto today is a vastly different city to the one he knew fifteen years ago. Great progressive strides have been made by this metropolis, he declared.

MIGHT GET HURT

Dumb—Hey, is this a good place to commit suicide?

Dora—No, it's too dangerous.

DO THIS ONCE
A WEEK

After a bad cold, which kept me in bed
nearly three weeks, I began to have trouble with my hair and scalp. My scalp felt itchy.
Every time I combed my hair quite a little of it fell out. And I developed a very trying case of dandruff.

"I had never been bothered this way before and naturally was quite alarmed. I tried several expensive treatments, with very little success, and then my husband suggested that I try Listerine. I was pretty skeptical but I decided to do as he suggested. I used it four times.

"You can imagine my delight at the end of a week to find that there wasn't a trace of dandruff and that my scalp no longer itched and burned. I have told other women about it, and they say they too have found it wonderful in keeping the scalp and hair clean and healthy."

This statement is typical of those contained in letters from thousands of people all over the country.

If you are troubled with loose dandruff, give Listerine a trial. We do not claim that it is infallible but in most mild cases it gets quick results. Even severe cases have yielded to it.

Listerine attacks surface infection, removes and dissolves scaly crusts, soothes inflammation and cleans both scalp and hair.

Plans for Relief
Will Be Discussed
At Public Meeting

A PUBLIC meeting will be held in the City Council chamber tonight at 8 o'clock to discuss the "Give a Job" campaign to be conducted by the Friendly Help Association, with a view to relieving the unemployment situation in Victoria this winter.

Two plans will come up for discussion. One is the sale of citizens' or "human interest"
bonds, by which private citizens may pay for labor or donate to the city to defray cost of direct relief. The other is a scheme whereby each block of residents in the city would provide continuous employment for one man.

Gruntly Is Envious

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

You want what others have and they for what you have would gladly pay.
—Old Mother Nature.

That seems to be the way it is with most people. You envy your neighbor and your neighbor envies you. Each has something the other wants or thinks he wants, and each forgets his own blessings. It was just that way with the three little people in the Green Forest starting out to make places for themselves in the Great World. Inky, the young Skunk, envied Quilly, the Porcupine, his coat of little spears; Quilly envied Inky his little scent gun, and Gruntly, the young Possum, envied both of them.

However, both Inky and Quilly were fairly well satisfied with what Mother Nature had given them and neither would have exchanged with the other. Each would have liked to have what the other had in addition to what he himself had.

"If I had a coat like Quilly's, I wouldn't fear even Hooty the Owl," thought Inky.

"If I had a scent gun like Inky's, I wouldn't fear to face anybody; I never would have to hide my head to protect it," muttered Quilly.

But it was Gruntly who was the most envious. The more he saw of his two friends the more envious he became. "It must be wonderful to be so independent," he would say to himself. "Ah wonder what it would seem like not to be afraid of anybody. Ah reckon Ol' Mother Nature done forget we-uns when she was giving out her favors."

Yes, suh, Ah reckon she done forget we-uns. What can a po' lil' Possum do? Nothin'. Just lie still and wonder what given him to happen next. Just shake and shake with fright inside and take care not to shake outside. Yes, suh, all a po' lil' Possum can do when he is caught is just nothin'.

How surprised Gruntly would have been could he have known that there were among his neighbors who envied him his ability to do just this. He could do nothing so perfectly that he didn't appear to be alive, and this ready-to-appear dead would save his life many times and get him out of many tight places. He didn't know this and so he didn't realize what this was one of the favors that Old Mother Nature had given the Possum family.

Just which one of his two friends Gruntly envied most he wasn't sure

"Ah wouldn't want to have to stay on the ground all the time," thought Gruntly for some time. Sometimes it was Inky and sometimes it was Quilly. It had been Inky when the latter put Yowler the Bobcat to flight. It had been Quilly when Hooty the Owl alighted in the same tree with him and he merely clattered his teeth and paid no other attention to Hooty.

It was Inky when they met Old Man Coyote and the latter merely grinned and went his way. Gruntly was sure that it was Inky whom he most envied. But he wasn't so sure of this when he disavowed that Inky couldn't climb a tree. Quilly could climb trees. In fact, he spent much of his time in trees.

"Ah wouldn't want to have to stay on the ground all the time," thought Gruntly. "No, suh, Ah wouldn't like that. Ah would like to have a little scent gun to make others respect me, but Ah certainly wouldn't want to give up climbing. No, suh, Ah wouldn't want to give up that. Quilly can climb. He is terribly slow about it, but he can climb. He does a lot of fretting for anyone who has so little to fret about. His tastes are so simple that he never has any trouble finding plenty to eat, but he doesn't get around much. Ah wouldn't like that. Those little spears of his just keep others from touching him; they don't make people really afraid of him. But they are afraid of Inky. They are both well armed and for a fact Ah don't know which Ah envy most."

The next story: "A Question Settled."

MAY ALLOCATE RELIEF NEEDS

New Provincial Board to Be Deciding Factor On Aid
Allowances

While final Cabinet action is pending, there appeared yesterday good ground to believe that no hard and fast rule will be made in connection with relief allowances under provincial control. The principle of budgeting provincial relief costs was being fully adhered to, but recognition of great differences in various British Columbia centres had induced a reconsideration of the whole question of allowances.

Government spokesmen said that one of the first duties of the independent relief board to be appointed would be to make a study of all areas to find out their express needs. It is probable that whatever sum the Province can set aside for the purpose on a monthly basis will be placed from time to time at the disposal of this board for allocation in the various centres, organized and unorganized.

BOARD TO CONTROL

This would imply the setting up of similar machinery to that existing under the 1930 and 1931 relief agreements, to ascertain the needs of every municipality, and to allocate definite sums to each, as found necessary. How such allocations would be expended may yet be left to the municipalities themselves to decide, in conjunction with the new relief board, which, it is expected, will be seated in office within the next ten days.

The estimate of $15 per month and $250 for dependents cited to the Union of B.C. Municipalities came from the Treasury, and was an estimate rather of the ability of the Province to pay, than an express ruling as to the scale of allowances that would be recognized, it was explained yesterday. A circular believed to have been drafted for mailing to all municipalities containing these figures was meanwhile withheld.

The unemployment committee of the Cabinet met for several hours, but will likely await the return of Finance Minister Jones before taking its next step in this regard.

MAKES EXCHANGE IN REAL ESTATE

A local operator in real estate has just concluded an exchange in which he disposed of more than five acres on the south slope of Cedar Hill and took in trade a bungalow on Steele Avenue and a summer cottage at Glen Lake. The new owner of the Cedar Hill acreage is planning to develop this property, which is adjacent to Douglas Crossroad, just outside the three-mile circle. The above deal was reported by Pemberton & Son.

Just Roamin' Around

One short story of a youth's attendance at an organ recital seems to be fitting today, since the very fine performance of British Columbia's foremost organist, Frederick Chubb, at the inaugural programme on the brand new organ at the First United Church on Tuesday night brought it back to the immediate field of recollection. It may also be of interest to some Norfolk folk here who, like the writer, happened to be born in that grand old East Anglian county of dear old England.

CROMER PARISH CHURCH

Cromer, Norfolk County, is a quaint little old-world town on a low cliff, with high cliffs to west and east, for Cromer faces almost north to the sea.

This charming pleasure resort has as a background a sweep of undulating downs and wooded country. There is ever the sweet perfume of heather and stately pines in the lanes that lead to Cromer. A cluster of fine old houses nestling around a majestic church—that is Cromer.

The parish church is dedicated to Saints Peter and Paul, and it is one of the largest and most stately in a county famed for fine churches. It was built in the reign of Henry IV, known to students of English history as "Bolingbroke," or between 1399 and 1413. Its embattled tower is 150 feet high, richly ornamented with sculpture, and as is the church, of freestone faced with flint.

There are six bells, the gift of Mr. T. F. Buxton (1874), in memory of his mother. The finely carved hammer-beam roof was given by the lord of the manor, Mr. B. B. Cabbell, or Cromer Hall.

AN ORGAN RECITAL

Rev. E. B. Davies, Vicar of Donlithorpe, Oakthorpe and Melra, who was holidaying at Cromer in 1885, kindly invited the young son of his next village and neighboring vicar to join him at Cromer for the Summer holidays. The youth was passionately fond of music and there being a grand organ recital in the parish church one afternoon he soon found his way to a pew where he could recline at length and listen with all his ears, undisturbed by the rest of the audience.

Towards the end of the recital, and lulled by the sweet strains of the organ in the gathering twilight and sombre atmosphere of the old church, he fell asleep.

Long after, when the good townsfolk had all gone home and the parish church had been shut up for the night, frantic banging on the church door within caused consternation amongst the credulous simpler folk, who regarded this loud noise inside the sacred edifice as a demonstration of the evil one. It was only after a considerable interval, and after a period of terrifying mental torture for the youth, that the verger was sent for and an imprisoned sacred boy was released from the ancient building before the shades of night had emerged from out of the shadows of a late and dark and spook-ridden twilight.

B.C. Electric Radio Show Now Open

SHOWROOMS HOLD COMPLETE RANGE OF LEADING SETS

First Fall Radio Show to Be Held This Year in Victoria Contains Display of Latest Models—Doors Open Until 10 P.M. Saturday—Many Features to Be Demonstrated

At 10 o'clock this morning the B.C. Electric open their doors on one of the most comprehensive radio shows ever held in Victoria. Their Douglas Street showrooms have been given over to the display of the latest models of leading makes, the show to last for three days, ending 10 o'clock Saturday night. No effort or expense has been spared to make this, the first Fall radio show of the season in the city, outstanding in the features of display and demonstration.

In one group will be shown have won instant acclamation Philco's latest achievement featuring the tremendous development gained in the "shadow tuning," bringing new sensitivity and selectivity to radio reception. Sparton radio is represented by an unusually complete line, combining beauty of cabinet work, advanced features and clarity of tone in the 1933 models shown. Stromberg-Carlson's latest receivers feature the visual tuning meter, a valuable adjunct and vital to precise tuning.

A NECESSITY
This meter is to radio what a gas or oil meter is to a car, allowing a check of performance to be made at all times of operation. The new General Electric full-range radio is represented by a full line of the latest models, all equipped with the new General Electric tubes, which

PHILCO HAS BROUGHT NEW INNOVATIONS

Shadow Tuning Is Big Factor in Perfect Reception With Latest Models

New Philco models for the season 1932-33 are now in the hands of dealers. The line has been lengthened, the sets have been tremendously improved and more important exclusive patented features built into them.

Another of the famous Philco "X" models has been brought out, prices have been lowered and the cabinets have been almost unbelievably beautified.

In the new Philco sets there are more new and important developments than were ever incorporated in a radio receiver before. There has not been a single "gadget" added for sales ballyhoo, but all are incorporated for but the one prime factor—performance.

TUNING IS DIFFICULT

Tuning a radio receiver is like tuning a fiddle, very few people can tune either one absolutely, but shadow tuning makes it easily possible for anybody to tune a Philco radio to a hairline of accuracy and perfection. The reason or explanation is simply this: All broadcasting stations vary at times from their assigned frequencies or correct channel numbers on your radio dial.

With the receiving capacity and the selectivity of radio sets so tremendously increased, absolute tuning becomes more and more difficult. That is, tuning by ear alone; but Philco's shadow tuning lets the operator see instantly whether the correct spot on the dial is exactly on the line of the channel number, or a little to one side or the other of it. The "shadow" is controlled by the station power and when it comes down to its narrowest width, whether on the channel number or not, that is where reception will be brought in clear, crisp and true.

AUTOMATIC SILENCER

Another decided improvement is automatic silencing of radio noises between stations as the dial is turned from one station to another. This is automatic, there is no added control to complicate operation and it is a distinct contribution to radio enjoyment as was automatic volume control, which was also a development of Philco engineers. This new automatic tuning silencer makes it possible to turn the dial through the entire scale, from top to bottom,

FULL RANGE OF SPARTONS TO BE SHOWN

From Small Table Type to Big "Visionola" Sparton Has Gained Approval

Simplicity of control is just one of the outstanding features of the new Sparton Short-Wave Converter Model 60. For short-wave reception in combination with all standard A.C. broadcast receivers now in use, Sparton has developed a new four-tube converter in a most attractive table-type cabinet.

Use of this Sparton Converter Model 60 will transform a tuned radio frequency receiver into a short-wave superheterodyne. All that is necessary to install the Sparton Converter is to plug in at the light socket and connect the two wires provided to the aerial and ground.

FOUR TUBES

The Sparton Converter has four tubes, utilised in the following manner: Radio frequency stage, oscillator, detector and has its own power pack. A cleverly engineered band selector switch permits a range of frequencies from 1,500 to 25,000 kilocycles. The complete set weighs only twenty-four pounds; small and compact and very easy to install.

Visionola, the Sparton home talkie movie machine with a built-in radio chassis represents the last word combining the two types of entertainment. If it is desired to listen to programmes of distant or local stations the receiver is there. If a home movie is preferred the Visionola is ready to entertain with the latest film of the youngsters, or a photographic story of vacation activities. Reels from the Sparton library will supply a comedy or a romance complete with words, exactly the same as the pictures are produced on the screen in a moving picture theatre.

USED BY POLICE

While it may not be generally known, Sparton has met with considerable favour in supplying police departments with short-wave receivers. The city of Vancouver recently installed twenty Sparton police car radio receivers on their prowler cars. Canada's famous R.C.M.P. have chosen Sparton equipment as a means of keeping in touch with some of their far-flung outposts.

Over 300 cities on the North American continent use Sparton equipment. This represents over 90 per cent of police radios in use at the present time. Sparton are releasing a superheterodyne, seven-tube automobile radio with automatic volume control for pleasure use. With their long experience in police car work, providing a receiver of utmost efficiency and clarity of tone, Sparton's new pleasure equipment is acknowledged to be the finest of its kind.

Island Sawmill To Open Monday

PORT ALBERNI, Sept. 21.—The large sawmill of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Co., Ltd., which has been closed down since last June, will resume operation on Monday next, according to an announcement made by the officials. This mill has a cut of five hundred thousand feet a day, running two shifts, but for the present it is expected that only the day shift will be working. Its finished product is practically all exported.

Drive to Be Made in Aid of Health Centre

DUNCAN, Sept. 21.—Cowichan Health Centre committee met on Tuesday afternoon at the Health Centre. Mrs. G. A. Tidball presided. Monthly visits will be paid to Yubou School by the nurses, Miss Young, acting supervisor, presented the nursing service report for August. The following canvassers were named for the annual membership drive which will be held in October: City of Duncan, Mesdames F. G. Christmas, R. C. Macgregor, T. Pitt, H. F. Prevost and R. H. Whidden; Maple Bay, Mrs. Hayward and Mrs. R. E. Macbean; South Cowichan, Mrs. G. O. Ross, Owens, Mrs. Moss, Mrs. H. Kayle and Mrs. Stannard; Somerses, Mrs. Tidball, Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. Dunkley, Mrs. Lowood, Mrs. Highhead and Mrs. Bretingham; Washholme, Mrs. L. W. Solly and Mrs. F. Lloyd; Crofton, Miss Foster; Glenora, Mrs. Dodge; Kokalah, Mrs. T. Gilles; Gibbins Road, Mrs. E. Munzer and Mrs. W. S. Gwyn. Tea was served by Mrs. Pitt and Mrs. Macgregor.

Bursting open the door marked "Private," the butcher confronted the local lawyer. "If a dog steals a piece of meat from my shop, is the owner liable?" "Certainly," replied the lawyer. "Very well, your dog took a piece of steak worth half a dollar about five minutes ago." "Indeed," he returned smoothly. "Then if you give me the other half, that will cover my fee."

without bringing in static or other objectionable noises often so aggravating in the past.

The new Philco models also have twin speakers. Contrary to the generally-accepted theory, Philco engineers have proved that, in the case of twin speakers, one should not be tuned to carry the higher notes, and the other the low notes.

It is a reasonable sounding theory, but Philco engineers reasoned that people can see with one eye and hear with one ear, but need two eyes for depth roundness and perspective in sight, just as two ears are needed for depth and fullness of sound and hearing. Exhaustive experiment and scientific measurement of sound show that two speakers properly used give to radio, tone, roundness and relief or perspective, that is impossible with a single speaker.

This is akin to the old stereo-

NEW DEVICE IS USED ON STROMBERGS

Cleverly Designed Meter Permits Sight Tuning and Corrects Station Errors

One of the most important features necessary in connection with radio receivers employing automatic control is the visual tuning meter brought in the latest Stromberg-Carlson line; in fact, unless this feature is present much of the value of automatic signal control is destroyed.

The primary purpose of the visual meter is to indicate by "greatest swing" to the right when the receiver is tuned to exact resonance. This is essential with automatic volume control on modern selective receivers, as the same volume will be heard over practically the whole width of the carrier being tuned in, and bad distortion of the signal will result if the carrier is not tuned to exact resonance.

But the tuning meter is valuable in many other ways, the same as the several instruments on an automobile panelboard. The driver of a car knows by occasional glances at the oil or gasoline gauges when to replenish these two essentials. The ammeter similarly tells what is happening to the battery. While it takes several instruments on the automobile to keep the operator "informed," the one visual tuning meter on the radio gives full information as to operating conditions.

VISUAL INDICATOR

When the receiver is not in use the pointer of the visual tuning meter points to the marking "off" and assures the operator that the receiver is turned off. It serves also as a visual indication of the "warm-up" operation of the tubes by the pointer slowly swinging to the left of the scale towards the marking "on."

If the pointer of the visual tuning meter swings farther to the right than it normally does on local reception, it might reveal worn-out tubes. If it swings to the left without noticeable volume change, but with impaired audio quality, it shows a condition of fading that is due to wave interference which distorts the signal before it reaches the receiver.

A defective antenna or ground also is manifested by the pointer failing to swing to its accustomed position when tuning a local station. These, as well as other similar visual meter indications, keep the owner advised as to the operating conditions of the receiver.

Distortion Causes In Radio Reception Are Now Revealed

Trouble Is Largely Due to the Receiving Set Itself, Seldom to the Artist or Speaker—Radio Essentially for Reproduction, Not for Creation

LITTLE do radio listeners realize that when they blame a speaker or a singer for a poor radio voice or a musical instrument for a tinny or boomy tone, that probably all of the fault is in the radio receiver itself.

There are many things in a radio receiver that can cause distortion. If the set is not designed and constructed to guard against it, it will not have any tones of its own. They declare that any tones cut out or set by a receiver, which make the reproduction sound different than the tones coming from the broadcast microphone, is really a form of distortion.

Three of the most usual causes given for set distortion are incapability of a receiver to reproduce

What Today Means

"VIRGO"
If September 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to noon, from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., and from 8:25 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:15 a.m. to 9:10 a.m., and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The stellar configurations of September 22 spell a day of much uncertainty; something of an unexpected nature will happen, which will compel you to change views firmly held or ideas backed up by tradition. A new angle will present itself, and if you are adaptable, much benefit may be derived by the adoption of new methods.

Children born on this September 22 will have many qualities that will endear them to their parents. On the other hand, they will show many weaknesses of character that will need correction. Their chief fault, and one likely to continue with them through life, will be their unwillingness, after they have burned themselves, to sit on the blisters.

You, if born on September 22, have a cheerful disposition, and always look on the "sunny side." No matter how great the trouble, you always console yourself with the reflection that "it might have been worse." You absolutely refuse, in spite of conditions, to be depressed. In the same way, you willfully blind yourself to the defects of your friends, and only allow yourself to see their good points. You speak ill of none; you think well of all. Far more critical of yourself than of others, exaggerating your own shortcomings, and undervaluing those of your friends, you are a cheerful slave to duty. You both live and work conscientiously.

The signs denote for you a life of achievement, useful but not spectacular, meritorious but not conspicuous. You are persevering, industrious, and painstaking. You are not a high-brow, but, by careful reading and constant observation, you have acquired practical knowledge and capitalize it successfully without taking undue advantage of others.

Your many lovable traits will make you a delightful husband or wife, as the case may be. Your

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A QUESTION OF ETHICS
A high standard of ethics and sportsmanship is essential in the bidding and play of contract bridge not only because any game which lacks these essentials is not a game that appeals to ladies and gentlemen, but the playing of any game with cheats and crooks is unpleasant in the extreme.

Mr. Oscar Stowens, of New York, submitted the following questions to me:

"Playing last night with three friends, who have been playing together regularly for about a year, I held the following hand at West:

"East and West vulnerable; part-score, thirty-five.
"Spade, 6; hearts, A 7 4; Diamonds, 4 3; clubs, A K Q 4 2.
"The bidding:

South West North East
INT Pass 2NT Pass
3NT Double Pass Pass

"Opening the club suit, I ran my six clubs and the ace of hearts, and before the game was finished, the contract was set five tricks for a penalty of 1,000.

"Not to go into the merits of the bidding or the correctness of same, when the hand was finished, I was accused of being very unsportsmanlike and of playing 'coffee house bridge' because I did not bid my clubs and thus warn my opponents that they could not make a no-trump contract and that they had better get together in some suit in order to make game. In view of the fact that the only bid I could make was in clubs, that we were vulnerable and had a part-score, that our opponents would certainly bid us up, and from the known conservative characteristics of South—judging him for at least three honor tricks for his opening bid, and therefore leaving my partner with very little assistance for me—I thought that a pass was the best bid I could make to see how cheerfulness, your not-to-be-dented optimism, and your wide tolerance will disperse clouds and engender perpetual sunshine.

ADVOCATE REPEAL OF LEGISLATION

Cumberland Council Endorses Resolution Protesting Burden of Social Service Costs

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 21.—The City Council, at its regular session this week, endorsed the resolution submitted by the district of Pitt Meadows with reference to the saddling of the burden of social service costs on municipalities, which urges an immediate repeal of this legislation. The city clerk was instructed to send to the provincial member for this riding a copy of the resolution as submitted by the Pitt Meadows municipality. A circular from the reeve of Maple Ridge claiming that the recent rise of two cents a gallon in the price of gasoline was entirely unjustified and that the import duties were exploited to add to an already reasonable profit reaped by the companies, was received and adopted. The council instructed the city clerk to write to both the provincial and Federal members protesting the rise in the price of gasoline.

A communication from the secretary of the committee of the executive council on unemployment relief was ordered to be filed for future reference.

Under new business the Mayor brought up the matter of the Board of School Trustees engaging a third teacher for the high school. If the portion of the Government grant of $7 per cent of the teacher's salary along with the fee being charged to outside pupils, was sufficient to meet the salary without the city being called upon to pay a portion of it, His Worship stated the appointment would be satisfactory. If the city had to pay any portion of the salary, and the third teacher was necessary through outside pupils attending, he would object to it most strenuously, he said. He did not think it fair that the ratepayers of this city should help to educate anyone outside the school area. The city clerk was ordered to write to the school board and obtain all possible information on the matter.

G. E. TUBES ARE RADICAL IN DESIGN

Latest Features Eliminate Bumps and Rattles From Radio Reception

Smoothing out the air as modern road construction has smoothed out the highways, the new radiotubes which feature the Canadian General Electric Company's latest model are a marked advance in tube perfection far superior even to such introduction of even harmonics of tones caused by faulty operation of the receiver and the introduction of odd harmonics of tones set up by tubes. Scientists have found that small cabinet areas prevent the production of low fundamental tones and the lack of these tones causes incorrect reproduction of music and lack of recognition of a speaker's voice. Likewise, a lack of high-pitched tones due to limitation of circuit design or loud speaker inefficiency give a "dull" reproduction of music and loss of intelligibility in speech.

These new radiotubes, says A. S. Edgar, manager of the general merchandising department of the Canadian General Electric Company, are designed for use in multiple sets of vastly extended range and power, capable of reproducing all ordinary high and low notes with uniform faithfulness regardless of the volume level. The tubes are smaller than those of the past, with two of the types making a startling departure in shape. These types are topped by a glass dome which the designers consider a distinct advance.

SPECIAL USE
"These new radiotubes," says A. S. Edgar, manager of the general merchandising department of the Canadian General Electric Company, are designed for use in multiple sets of vastly extended range and power, capable of reproducing all ordinary high and low notes with uniform faithfulness regardless of the volume level. The tubes are smaller than those of the past, with two of the types making a startling departure in shape. These types are topped by a glass dome which the designers consider a distinct advance.

DISTORTION OVERCOME
Old-style power tubes, they point out, gave distortion and rattles at these times, while the new tube handles these peaks easily. The new 57—the triple-grid amplifier—while it resembles the screen grid type 24 tubes in purpose, gives greater volume, less distortion and improved operation at short waves.

The super triode amplifier, type 56, is a general purpose tube, particularly suitable for short wave design. The 58 has the new feature of automatic fidelity control, with its automatic gain control which operates with high sensitivity and selectivity on distant stations. The local station can, therefore, be received with greater fidelity. To complete the series is the 82, the mercury vapor rectifier tube, of increased efficiency for supplying power to the other tubes in the set.

LOW PRICED
"The new tubes," Mr. Edgar, emphasized, "are available at the lowest prices in radio history. They are not interchangeable with old sets, however, and cannot be used on any models other than our new ones which carry them as standard equipment. This does not mean, however, that owners of our other models cannot secure greatly-improved radio performance by investing in new tubes.

While our new radiotubes are a distinct and almost dramatic advance in tube construction, not a month has passed, in recent years, that has not seen some improvement in general tube construction, either through improved materials, better equipment, engineering discoveries or actual process of manufacture. Owners of radio receivers can now rejuvenate their sets to double former performance by an investment of only 5 to 10 per cent of the original cost of the set. Most radio owners realize that a receiver is no better than its tubes. They fail, however, to appreciate fully the really marked advance in tube construction.

WE'LL AGREE!
"Don't you agree that time is the great healer?" "He may be—but he's certainly no beauty specialist."

In addition there are many other models . . . exquisite tonal qualities . . . beautifully appointed cabinet work.

SOCIAL SERVICE COSTS PROTESTED

Nanaimo Council Endorses Resolution Asking Repeal of Recent Government Act

NANAIMO, Sept. 21.—The regular meeting of the local council was held last evening with Acting Mayor Cavalsky presiding in the absence of Mayor Barby, who is attending the convention of school trustees at Kelowna.

A resolution received from Pitt Meadows Council, protesting the action of the Provincial Government in adding municipalities with social service costs and asking the immediate repeal of the act, was endorsed.

A request from T. Rutherford, secretary of the Unemployed Welfare League, to hold a tag day on October 22, was granted.

POPPY SALE
A request from G. A. Barclay, secretary of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, to hold a sale of poppies on the streets on November 5, in connection with Armistice Day, was granted.

An invitation was received from J. A. Arthur, secretary of Ladysmith Fall Fair, extending an invitation to the mayor and council to attend the official opening of the fair on Wednesday, at 3 p.m., by Lieutenant-Governor J. W. Fordham Johnson. The invitation was accepted.

A petition, signed by eighty citizens, was received, asking the council to reserve its rights over the city's playground and strongly protesting the giving of power over any playground to a club. On motion of Alderman Kerr, the petition was received and referred to the parks and properties committee for report.

Speaking to the motion, Alderman Kerr said he had yet to hear of a club failing to get a time schedule for playing on the cricket grounds, and, in any case, the Municipal Act prevented the council from handing control of its playgrounds to any one body.

LADYSMITH, Sept. 21.—The fire hazard in this district is believed to have passed the acute stage with the prevalence of cooler weather, and the falling of several light showers of rain during the past two days.

Although there is still some smoke rolling from the ten-day blaze around old Camp Nine area, the fire has practically spent itself.

The fire at Kuper Island, which for a time threatened a large portion of the fine timber stand on the Indian Reserve, was held in check, and danger was averted when the wind died away.

Harvest Season Is Celebrated

Nanaimo residents journeyed to St. Philip's Anglican Church, Cedar District, on Sunday night, to participate in the celebration of the Harvest Festival services.

The church presented a beautiful appearance decorated with flowers, fruits and vegetables, donated by the parishioners and friends of Cedar District. The services were very impressive and the special music rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. O. D. Roberts, choirmistress, with Henley Vicars charged us for eight."

Fascism Might Be Panacea for Ills Worrying Republic

Now in China, Gen. Frank Sutton Suggests It Would Probably "Go"—Palace Treasures to Be Converted Into War Equipment

Among the interesting bits of news brought by the liner President Jefferson from the Orient on Tuesday of this week was one relating to General Frank Sutton, who is well known in British Columbia and particularly in Victoria. Famous as "One-Arm" Sutton, and formerly military adviser to Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, his recent return to China has been the subject of some comment and much guessing.

His friends on the other side find him little changed since the exciting days when he was building and firing trench mortars against Wu Pei-Fu and Pang Yu-Hsiang, and while he insists that he is just paying a visit to China with no political ideas, that, in fact, he is going to Tsingtao "just for a holiday," it is reported in other quarters that he is going to North China on business.

He stated that he had been busy preparing a book of reminiscences of the days when he served Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, and expressed a desire to help China. He appeared anxious to know what young Chang had in his mind and what his chances were, and added that he had been reading up Fascism for some time and thought that it might "go" in China.

BELA LUGOSI IN
"WHITE ZOMBIE"

Star of "Dracula" Returns to Capitol Screen in Fantastic Tale of South Seas

"White Zombie" is one of the eeriest and most fantastic stories ever pictured for the screen, will have its premiere at the Capitol Theatre today. Movie fans will thus learn thousands of them for the first time, of the occult practices in Haiti in which by processes of sorcery dead bodies are dug from their graves and put to work as slaves.

Rumors have been heard throughout the world for years of these sinister practices, and now, for the first time, light is thrown upon them by a screen presentation. The story of "White Zombie" is based upon personal observation in Haiti by writers and research workers, and, fantastic as it sounds, its entire substance is based upon fact.

"White Zombie" was produced in Hollywood by Edward and Victor Hugo Halperin, independent producers who have made countless successful pictures in the past decade, the story being an original by Garnett Weston. It is being released throughout the world by United Artists Corporation.

Bela Lugosi, who came into prominence in this country with his stage and screen creation of Count Dracula, is the star.

"Around the World in Eighty Minutes With Douglas Fairbanks," the new adventure film which is the second feature, offers the film patron a glimpse into places which not even a personal trip would afford him. The reason is that Fairbanks was able to gain access to places to which the ordinary traveler would be forbidden. In China, India, Japan, Siam and Indo-China, Fairbanks and his party were the guests of celebrities who entertained them and aided in unearthing material new to the film camera.

Each succeeding Empire picture sends a new group of enthusiasts into the ranks of Hollywood's actors and actresses, soundings the praises of the rehearsal system which George Arliss has introduced and made a feature of his productions. Arliss, who appears in "A Successful Calamity," his latest Warner Bros. hit, at the Dominion Theatre, rehearses for ten days with the complete cast and the director before a camera turns or a microphone is spotted on the set.

The cast does not even occupy the sets, but gathers in a large assembly room, which is turned into a miniature stage.

Hugh Wakefield and Elsie Randolph will be seen for the last time today in the British production, "On With Life," the feature attraction at the Empire Theatre. Betty Stockfield and Wallace Geoffrey, two well-known English stage artists, are also seen in this clever mystery drama.

"DUDE WRANGLER" IS COWBOY FILM

Making Western pictures gives the actors almost as much pleasure as the audience gets from seeing them. In the case of "The Dude Wrangler," the story of the simple cowboy, showing at the Playhouse Theatre today, Ilna Baquette, George Dury, Clyde Cook and other prominent members of the splendid cast, considered their work more in the nature of a vacation than an actual business.

professional engagement. Since most of the action in this joyful comedy takes place outdoors, with the Rocky Mountains as a backdrop, the players spent a minimum of eight hours each day in the open. Horseback riding and hiking, introduced as part of the narrative, kept the cast in tip-top physical condition, and it was with more than a slight regret that the players were obliged, when the picture was completed, to terminate their engagement and begin work in the confinement of the studio.

Walter Huston, the most perfect Lincoln impersonator of the generation, will be seen in a dynamic role in "The Ruling Voice," added attraction. He plays the role of Backmaster, ruthless czar of the milk racket.

Famous Comedians

Now at Columbia

A riotous laugh picture showing the inner workings of Hollywood studio and social life. This apply describe the "Cohens and Kellys in Hollywood," just been booked by the Columbia Theatre for showing today, Friday and Saturday. The picture presents as its stars George Sidney and Charlie Murray, the screen's most popular comedy team, and heroes of a long succession of films dealing with the adventures of the Cohens and Kellys.

In this hilarious picture Kelly's daughter becomes a featured actress, and through a happy chain of circumstances, and when the Cohens follow their Irish friends to the film capital they find the Kellys have "gone Hollywood" with tremendous enthusiasm. Subsequent events find the shoe now on one foot and now on the other with the changes taking place on the proportions of a veritable riot of merriment.

Also on the same bill is Sylvia Sydney in "Street Scene."

ROMANO OFFERS

AIR MELODRAMA

The self-sacrificing brotherhood of men in air thrills galore. A spectacular airplane crash, and a glorious romance are combined in a vivid, dramatic air thriller which opens today at the Romano Theatre.

The picture is RKO Radio Pictures' "The Lost Squadron," starring Richard Dix with a remarkable supporting cast in the first film to give a truthful, entertaining and always thrilling story of the making of aviation movies in Hollywood.

Like most Dix starring vehicles, the film abounds in action to please the men, plus a romance that will have a strong appeal for women. Based on the stirring adventures of the film stars, aviators—the men who risk their lives for the sake of injecting thrills in pictures—the film tells the story of these nerveless danger seekers in relation to actual movie making.

"The Lost Squadron" departs from the accepted and stereotyped form of story-telling and presents a double drama of great strength and suspense.

The boy had been making steady improvement during the last two days and is now reported in "fairly good condition."

QUARTERS IN GOLF TOURNEY ARE REACHED

Four Canadian Women Gain Last Eight in Championship Meet

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—Four Canadians remained in the contest today at the end of the second round of match play in the Canadian women's open golf championship. With them, one Englishwoman and three United States players will enter the quarter-finals tomorrow at Kanawaki Golf Club.

The Canadian contingent was generally impressive today. Margery Kirkham, Montreal, triumphed over a strong opponent in Margaret Lockhart, Montreal, by a 4 and 2 margin. Doris Taylor, Kanawaki's promising young player, scored an international victory for Canada by defeating Mrs. Arthur Miller, Lakerville, L.I., 6 and 5.

Probably the most impressive Canadian win was that scored by Mrs. Charles E. Eddis, of Toronto, who rallied to eliminate Bea Gottlieb, Great Neck, L.I., 1 up, after a tense battle. Lucille Rolland, diminutive Laval, Montreal, styles, conquered her local rival, Molly Hankin, at the twenty-first hole in the longest battle of the tournament thus far.

MEDALIST WINS
Mrs. Alex Gold, the qualifying medalist from across the Atlantic, advanced to the quarter-finals by defeating Evelyn Mills, Ottawa, 5 and 4.

Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, coasted through by eliminating Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, 5 and 4. Two Los Angeles Negro, in the six-round main event of a boxing show here tonight, Lenhart weighed 180 1-2 pounds and James 171 3-4.

It was Lenhart's fight from the opening bell. The Tacoma boy won every round and was never in danger. Except for a trio of hard right smashes, Lenhart's chin, which was content to keep out of the big fellow's way as best he could. Rodolfo Taglia, Argentine featherweight, administered a beating to Chris McArdle, Vancouver, B.C., in the six-round semi-final. The South American took the upper hand from the start and pounded McArdle all over the ring for an easy win.

Hilo Hernandez, Mexico bantamweight, won over Ros Dumaguilla, Manila, in six rounds; and Joe Ruiz, Los Angeles welterweight, and Albie Davies, Victoria, went six rounds to a draw.

Cubs' Infield Has Edge in Batting Over N.Y. Yankees

Chicago's Mark .302 Against .297—Lou Gehrig Heaviest Hitter of Rival Infielders for World Series—Koenig Has Creditable Average

By EDWARD J. NEEL
Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP).—The "Keystone Kids" of the great Yankee machine of 1926, Tony Lazzari and Mark Koenig, are the comeback kids of 1932, warring in rival arrays and adding an extra touch of glamour and baseball romance to the infield of the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs.

Probably no two clubs in the history of world series play have gone into the classic better fortified in the infield, not only in the first line of defense, but in replacements. Burly Lou Gehrig will be on first base, Lazzari at second, probably Frank Crosetti at shortstop, and Joe Sewell at third for the Yankees when the first Cub hitter steps to the plate in the Yankee Stadium September 28.

Manager Charles Grimm at first, Bill Herman at second, Koenig at shortstop, and "Woody" English at third from the Cub infield.

No man in the Cub infield can match Lou Gehrig's .346, nor the thirty-two home runs that have peeled from his bludge. His first Canadian jockey, showed "slight improvement" today at St. Boniface Hospital.

Jimmy Fox Drives Out 54th Homer of Season as A's Win

Slugging First Sacker of Macken Pounds Out Another Circuit Drive as Mates Trim Yankees—Pirates Defeat Cubs in Last Game of Series

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21 (AP).—Merritt "Sugar" Cain checked the bats of the New York Yankees, including Babe Ruth, today, as the Athletics pounded out an 8-to-4 victory over the American League champions.

The A's whopped three timely home runs, including J. M. Fox's fifty-fourth of the season, and Al Simmons' thirty-fourth, in their ten hits off Charley Ruffing, who is figured by many as a probable starting pitcher for the first game of the world series.

Simmons' circuit drive opened the scoring in the fourth inning. Fox's blow started a three-run rally in the seventh and a four-ply wallop by Eric McNair, with two on base, in the eighth, which drove in the tying run. He was taken out for a pinch runner.

Ruth, returning to the Yankees' line-up after an absence of fifteen games because of a threatened attack of appendicitis, went out his first three hits but got a single on a bad bounce the fourth time and drove in the tying run. He was taken out for a pinch runner.

Senators Win Fair
BOSTON, Sept. 21 (AP).—Washington Senators out-batted Boston Red Sox in both ends of a double-header today, winning 1-0 and 3-2. In the ten-inning opener the visitors tallied on singles by Bleue and Spencer and an infield out for a 1-0 victory.

They had to fill the bases in the ninth inning of the second game to push over the winning run. Dale Alexander, pressing for the league's batting honors, got a single in the first game and two singles and a double out of four tries in the second.

DEFENDING CHAMP AND MEDALIST WIN WAY TO LAST FOUR

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, Marjorie Todd, Mrs. Philbrick and Mrs. Jackson to Fight It Out Today for Places in Final Tomorrow—One Quarter-Final Match Goes to Extra Hole

Two former titleholders, the present champion and a staunch contender for several years, survived yesterday's second round matches in the women's city championship at the Victoria Golf Club. Marjorie Todd, seventeen-year-old medalist and holder of the crown for years, advanced to the semi-finals by her 3 and 2 victory over Phyllis Hodgson, Macaulay Club titlist, while Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, Colwood, who is defending her laurels, had another easy win by coming through against Mrs. Walter Parry, Oak Bay, 7 and 6, and Mrs. Philbrick, Oak Bay, who held the title several times during her golfing career. The closest decision of the day by disposing of Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Oak Bay, at the nineteenth hole. Mrs. Jackson, brilliant shotmaker from the Uplands Club, continued her march towards the honors by eliminating Mrs. Bennett, Colwood, 6 and 5.

This afternoon this quartette will clash in the semi-finals, and the two survivors will battle it out tomorrow afternoon over the eighteen-hole route for the championship. Play so far in the titular flight has been feature by one-sided struggles. Two of the fixtures have ended at the nineteenth and another on the home green. First rounds in the first flight took place yesterday with the favorites marching through with comparative ease.

CLOSE MATCH

Miss Todd and the young Macaulay champion, Miss Hodgson, had a great battle. The latter fought hard all the way, but could not cope with the brilliant play of the Oak Bay youngster. The Mrs. Philbrick-Mrs. C. E. Wilson match was a disconcerting affair from start to finish, with the former jumping at the opportunity on the first extra hole to win. Playing the same brilliant brand of golf that carried her through to two club championships and the city honors last year, Mrs. Sayward-Wilson disposed of Mrs. Parry with comparative ease, while Mrs. Jackson shot her usual game in outting Mrs. Bennett from the running.

BAER RANKED NO. 3 BY N.B. ASSOCIATION

California Placed Next to Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 21 (AP).—Jack Sharkey was recognized by the National Boxing Association as the United States and world heavyweight champion.

Max Schmeling, of Germany, the former title-holder, was ranked next, followed by Max Baer. Ernie Schaaf was dropped from fourth to seventh, and Primo Carnera and William L. Stribling were not listed among the first ten contenders.

After Johnny Jaddick and Kid Chocolate had been recognized junior welterweight champion and junior lightweight titleholder, respectively, the association voted to drop official recognition of the two classes.

Not a dissenting vote was raised at Tuesday's session of the thirteenth annual session of the association when the list of champions and ratings for 1932 were introduced.

NICHOLS RECOGNIZED

Maxie Nichols, recognized in some States as light-heavyweight king, was placed first among the contenders, the title going to George Nichols.

Marcel Thil, of France, was crowned as best of the middleweight class, filling the vacancy caused by Mickey Walker when he entered the heavyweight division, where he was rated fifth in this year's list.

Other champions of the National Boxing Association are as follows: Welterweight, Jackie Fields; lightweight, Tony Canzoneri; featherweight, Tommy Paul; bantamweight, Al Brown; flyweight, Young Pears.

FINANCE - COMMERCE - MARKETS

Price Rally at New York Mart Is Spectacular

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP).—The stock market today scored its sharpest advance for any one session in nearly a year, gains of individual issues ranging from $2 to $10 share.

Commodity prices also moved higher, wheat running up 2 1/2 cents a bushel and cotton $2.15 to $2 a bale. Bonds were strong, especially in low-priced issues.

This manifestation of bullishness was in contrast with the downcastness of markets one year ago, when Great Britain suspended the gold standard.

The rally was the first sizeable upward since the market began to dip on September 12 after its summer rise. Apparently heartened by the recent action of securities which after resting for some time, had become very quiet, buyers put in new orders for stocks, sending "bears" scrambling to cover their short commitments.

Sales on the Stock Exchange reached 4,300,000 shares, against yesterday's total of 1,300,000 shares.

Wall Street was encouraged by the appearance of several favorable reports from industry. Carving statements issued by some railroads for the week ended September 17 showed a substantial gain over the preceding week, which was interpreted to be of more than usual autumn seasonal proportions.

Weekly electric power production figures registered a slight increase for the week, although less than last year.

United States Steel preferred, which had been sold heavily early this week, was an outstanding performer in the stock market, gaining $10.12 a share net to $57. United States Steel common soared $7.87 to $45.50. Advances of around $5 a share were by National, Bethlehem and other independent steel companies.

American Telephone raced up $2.25 a share net to $116.50. American Gas sold at $67.75, up $6.87. General Electric $20.25, up $2.62. Westinghouse Electric $35.75, up $4.75. General Motors $18.37, up $2.62. And National Biscuit $42.87, up $3.27.

Farm equipment and mail orders shares reflected better prices for commodities.

WHEAT PRICES RISE RAPIDLY As Values Soar at Eastern Exchanges

Values Advance More Than Cent at Winnipeg—Export Trade Aids

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21 (CP).—In sympathy with other advancing commodity and stock quotations, wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange scored substantial improvement today.

Lighter hedging pressure and a moderate export trade aided the rise which amounted to 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 cents.

Oats were closed at 52 1/4 to 54 1/4, and wheat at 54 1/4 to 54 3/4 and May at 54 1/4 to 54 3/4.

A falling off in country receipts, strength at Liverpool and Chicago, and moderate export trade in Canadian wheat were some of the factors in the advance.

Foreign sales were estimated at between 500,000 and 1,000,000 bushels, with the Pacific Coast credited with most of the business.

The weather map in Western Canada was also a small factor, showing fairly general showers in all three Prairie Provinces on Tuesday, which will delay threshing operations to some extent.

Fractionally better spreads ruled for certain of the better grades of wheat, but the volume of cash wheat trade was low. Lack of demand was reflected in the coarse grains section.

CHURCH LOAN IS APPROVED

New United Edifice Will Be Constructed in James Bay District

Approval by the Presbytery of Victoria of a $1,500 loan to be made to the James Bay Church from the building fund of the United Church in Canada, advanced plans for a new church in Victoria, estimated to cost between four and five thousand dollars.

The resolution for endorsement by the Presbytery at its meeting this week was put forward by F. W. Dacey, who stated $1,000 had been collected and if the loan for $1,500 was sanctioned, plans may be commenced for the construction of the new church. Definite plans concerning the date of starting work have not been made. It is expected the new building will occupy the site of the present church.

Chief business of the session consisted of the passing of a resolution advocating the holding of regional conferences to be organized by the evangelism and social service committee, and the hearing of a brief address by Rev. B. Mori, of Kobe, Japan.

TO COMPLETE COURSE
Mr. Mori is a graduate of the Kwansai Gakuin College, of Kobe, and a deacon of the Japan Methodist Church. He is en route to Halifax, where he is to complete his course on theology at Pine Hills United College.

Considerable time was devoted to discussing missionary work in the home fields. Rev. W. F. Burns, of Duncan, convener of the home missions committee, reported on the year's work, stating the brightest aspect had been the increasing success which met the efforts of missionaries to the Japanese. Twenty adults and seven children had been baptized within the past few months, he said.

After a lengthy discussion on phases of this work a resolution at-firming the principle that there should be equality in living allowances to ministers working under the Home Missions Board and that the Presbytery favored equality in net living allowances rather than equality in gross salaries.

FINE WORK PRAISED

Work being carried out among natives of the west coast of Vancouver Island under the direction of Rev. Dr. A. D. Osterhout was warmly praised by Mr. Burns and a grant was made by the board towards expenses of workers among the East Indians of the Island, which has been undertaken by Rev. S. Fraser, D.D., for the balance of the church year.

Medical mission work among Chinese in Victoria, supervised by Dr. Chung, was an experiment being tried by the board, Mr. Burns stated, the success of which was at present doubtful. It was the intention, however, to give this work a thorough test as it was of great importance, he declared.

WILL DEAL WITH TIMELY SUBJECT

President J. C. Bridgman to Address Real Estate Board Tomorrow on Mortgages

Members and associate members of the Real Estate Board of Victoria will on Friday, at 12:30 p.m., at Spencer's dining-room, have the opportunity of listening to a talk on mortgages from the president, J. C. Bridgman. He will take up matters affecting the desirability of various classes of residential security. He will discuss the method of passing on loan applications, the investigation of the character of borrowers and their ability to meet their payments, and the points to be thought of in arranging the terms of the loan.

He will speak on the subsequent handling of mortgages and collections, the ways that lead to default, the methods of realizing on securities, and the protection of the client's interests generally.

This is one of a number of subjects of interest to investors, business men and property owners generally, that will be discussed at future luncheon meetings of the Real Estate Board. This organization has for years been battling in the interests of property owners and investors in matters of taxation, legislation, city planning and zoning and kindred matters, and has recently added quite a few to the ranks of its associate members, who have the privilege of being present at all regular meetings of the board.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE TO COMMENCE SOON

The Y.M.C.A. membership campaign will open Monday, it was announced yesterday by Frank Paulding, association secretary. E. D. LeLachur has been appointed chairman of the campaign committee and it is generally expected that the drive will be one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

This year's attendance up to date has been very satisfactory, and last evening the senior business men's class, under the leadership of Frank Paulding, with the following in attendance, held their first work-out: Col. D. McGugan, Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle, Rev. A. O. Thomson, W. Leach, E. W. Whittington, E. Harrison, H. Paulding, F. Paulding, S. Bruce, Major P. T. Stern, Fred Hurley, Walter Revercomb, Ralph Cruickshank, Jacob Isler, Harold Hubbard, Charles Bassett, Frank Spooner, A. McKinnon, Thomas Wood and V. A. Cary.

HEART DISEASE CHANCES FOR HEALTH AND LIFE

A member of your family or one of your friends has been told by his physician—by more than one physician in fact—that he has heart disease. You may be wondering just what an individual afflicted with heart disease can expect in so far as his health, and his length of life, are concerned.

In what way can a physician determine or decide just what may be expected in any case?

This is usually decided by learning the cause of the heart disease, whether it was caused by rheumatism, St. Vitus' dance, or scarlet fever on the one hand, which usually occur in early life, or from other conditions which do not as a rule appear until middle age. Speaking generally, Dr. R. O. Moore, London, Eng., says the chance for good health and life itself is more favorable in the rheumatic cases, in which the condition is apt to become stationary—making no progress—than in the conditions which cause the trouble later in life. In very young children, however, although the disease is usually due to rheumatism, the outlook is generally serious, because the covering of the heart, the heart muscle itself, and the lining of the heart are all affected.

In nearly all cases of heart disease, heredity and the family history are important guides as to what may be expected, as there are some families in which the heart muscle begins to fail at middle age without any definite disease causing this failure.

The sex, temperament, nutrition—thin or overweight—are all taken into account in estimating the chances of health and life itself. The habits and mode of living of the patient are important factors. Much will depend upon how far suitable treatment can be carried out in the way of preventing any further strain or infection, and moderation with regard to alcohol, tobacco, strong tea and coffee, and the possibility of giving up hard work.

The point then is that generally speaking heart disease occurring in young people is more apt to remain at a certain point so that the patient knows just exactly what he can and cannot do, and can govern himself accordingly.

Heart disease coming on in middle life, particularly when the patient comes from a family in which heart disease is common, is more likely to progress or grow gradually worse. This means that strict care is necessary to insure health, and prolong life.
